BIOGRAPHICAL NOTE ON KEYNOTE SPEAKER

THE LORD BENSON, GBE, FCA

Lord Benson was born and educated in South Africa (St John's College and Parktown High School, Johannesburg). During the war he served with the Grenadier Guards. He is a chartered accountant who was formerly senior partner of Coopers & Lybrand. On retirement from active professional practice in 1975, he became adviser to the Governor of the Bank of England until August 1983. He was president of the Institute of Chartered Accountants in England and Wales in 1966 and chairman of the Royal Commission on Legal Services 1976 to 1979. He was a member of the Roskill Commission on Fraud Trials in 1984/1985 and has also served as chairman or been a member of a wide variety of committees appointed to enquire into the Steel Industry, Railways, Transport, New Zealand Shipping, the National Trust, the Racing Industry, the Royal Dockyards and others. From 1980 to 1986 he was chairman of the Joint Disciplinary Committee of the Accountancy Profession. He was made CBE in 1946, was Knighted in 1964, made GBE in 1971, and created a Life Peer in 1981.

Note

The Royal Commission on Legal Services was required to inquire into the law and practice relating to the provision of legal services (which included legal aid), and to recommend what changes were desirable in the public interest in the structure, organisation, training, regulation of and entry to the legal profession. The Commission comprised fifteen persons drawn from the legal profession and several other organisations and occupations. The full Commission met on 74 occasions and made 369 recommendations.
